

Alessandro Pepe

Information Block for InvisAlign

“First impressions are more and more important in our lives as the hustle and bustle of the times get busier and busier. The very first and most important part of a first impression is your smile, something beyond words to show whomever you meet that you're someone worth their time, attention, and respect. If your smile is the first thing someone sees, it's important that their first impression is perfect! Isn't it time to make your smile the best it could possibly be? Ask your dentist about Invisalign, a breakthrough technology that gradually corrects your teeth using a treatment plan that your doctor devises custom to your specific needs. Invisalign can fix a wide array of dental issues, including overbite, underbite, crossbite, open bite, and can even fix gaps in your smile and an overly crowded mouth. Using a new retainer each week that gently and gradually adjusts your smile, it shifts your teeth not only horizontally and vertically, but even rotates them if needed so that they can look the best they possibly can for your perfect, ideal smile.

The Invisalign website makes it easy to find an Invisalign certified dentist or orthodontist; simply enter your zip code and click search. There is even a convenient smile assessment you can complete on your own time to determine quickly and easily if Invisalign is right for you. Using state of the art technology, your doctor may use the iTero digital scanning system to create a 3D map of your mouth, ensuring the utmost accuracy in your custom treatment that is made specifically and only for you for a personal touch that ensures perfection. Using retainers made from intelligent and multilayered SmartTrack material that is virtually undetectable to anyone but you, your smile will become better and better each and every week with no one the wiser. Invisalign makes it easy to keep up on your daily oral health regimen too; simply pop the retainer out of your mouth for cleaning, and pop it right back in. During your treatment you should visit your doctor once every six weeks to ensure that your treatment is as accurate and as effective as possible. After your treatment, maintaining your brand new radiant smile is easy with the Vivera retainers, which are made from the same material as Invisalign and are equally as undetectable as your treatment retainers.

Of course, having a perfect smile isn't just about first impressions; the American Dental Association has proven that straighter teeth are healthier teeth. If your smile is perfect, it's easier to maintain it and keep it that way, leading to healthier gums, a healthier mouth, and a healthier all around you! As well, Invisalign retainers are smooth and comfortable to wear, causing no irritation to your gums and walls of your mouth like other straightening methods of the past. Of course, because of their clear design, easy maintenance, and form fitting comfort, they are virtually invisible so that no one needs to know that you're going through treatment! No wires, no metal, no rubber bands, just an easy and sophisticated way to achieve the smile of your dreams. So isn't it time to make your smile the best it could possibly be? Talk to your dentist, and fulfill your professional and personal potential with Invisalign today!